From

To

W. LEE-WARNER, Esq., C. S. I.,
Secretary to Government, Judicial Department,
Bombay.

Police Commissioner's Office,
Bombay, 12th May 1894.

Sir,

I have the honour to submit herewith the Annual Police Report for the Town and Island of Bombay for the year 1893.

2. Colonel Wilson held charge of the office of Commissioner of Police from the 1st January to the 8th of April, from which date I took over charge.

3. The Deputy Commissionership was held throughout the year by Mr. Crummy, the permanent incumbent, Mr. H. G. Gell, being on leave on medical certificate.

4. The following statements are appended:—

A, B, C, D, E, which are prescribed by the Government of India, and I further submit the following extra ones, regarding—

1. The different communities to which offenders in cognizable and non-cognizable cases belonged.
2. Coroner's inquests.
3. Import, transport and export of arms.
4. Licenses and permits, &c., issued under the Arms Act.
5. Supplementary Statement No. 1, as furnished by the District Superintendents of Police.

5. The following statements supplied in former years regarding—

1. Expenditure on Police buildings,
2. Dismissals and resignations in the Force,
3. Juvenile offenders,
4. Re-convicted persons,
5. Fires in the town of Bombay, are omitted as directed in Government Resolution, Judicial Department, No. 2786 of the 21st April 1894.

Offences.

6. During the year under review 25,125 cognizable offences were reported to the Police and Magistrates, being an excess of 4,544 cases as compared with the previous years, and of 7,232 as compared with 1891.

7. The August Riots caused an increase of 1,242 cases, but if these be deducted, the increase still amounts to respectively 3,302 and 5,990 cases.

8. In Statement A, Part I, I have shown in column 4 in Italics the cases directly due to the Riots and also in column 21 the number of persons connected with those cases, and I also submit a separate statement relating entirely to the Riots.

9. Below this I show under what classes the general increase referred to falls :—

	1891.	1892.	1893.	Increase over		Decrease from		Distinctly attributable to Riots.
				1891.	1892.	1891.	1892.
Class I	25	18	62	37	44	...	...	25
„ II... ...	271	246	345	74	99	...	...	6
„ III... ...	245	288	462	217	174	...	...	9
„ IV... ...	34	30	36	2	6	...	...	...
„ V... ...	3,207	3,283	2,825	...	...	382	458	...
„ VI... ...	671	426	484	...	58	187	...	...
Miscellaneous ...	13,440	16,290	20,911	7,471	4,621	...	...	1,202
Total ...	17,893	20,581	25,125	7,801	5,002	569	458	1,242

10. In Class I, the increase caused by the Riots amounted to 25 cases under Serial No. 6, but if this figure be deducted there still remain respectively 12 and 19 cases falling under the same category, and I can only account for this by the excited state of feeling which prevailed in the communities before and after the August Riots.

11. Of the increase in Class II, the same must be said, the principal Serial Nos. affected being Nos. 20 and 23, which cover the offences of "Grievous hurt" and "Hurt by dangerous weapons."

12. In Class III, the excess falls under three heads :—

Serial No. 30—Dacoity,
„ „ 34—Serious Mischief, and
„ „ 36—Lurking house-trespass, &c.

and the Riots were the cause of this also, for, the greater number occurred either during the Riots or during the weeks following the disturbances, when the Police were overworked almost beyond endurance,—an opportunity which the more daring class of burglars, who flocked to Bombay, were not slow to take advantage of.

13. Another cause of the increase is the correcter classification of the offences; I am convinced that many cases of "House-breaking and theft" were in previous years entered under "Theft" (ordinary) and this accounts to some extent for the decrease in the latter class noticed in the following paragraph.

14. In connection with this I may point to the returns for the year 1884, which show only 87 cases of "House-breaking and theft." This must have been a mistake due to erroneous classification, for, a leap from 87 cases to 411 in nine years is impossible.

15. The increase in Class IV is too small to require explanation.

16. In Class V there has been a remarkable decrease as compared with both previous years, falling chiefly under Serial No. 44, Theft (ordinary); in 1893 there happened 2,384 such cases—in 1892 ... ... 2,782, and in 1891 2,705

17. This decrease is principally due to a correcter method of classification already spoken of and to some extent to the emigration or non-appearance in

Bombay during the year of vagabonds and petty thieves, who usually infest this city during the cold weather, but who thought it prudent not to visit Bombay for some time after the Riots.

18. Taking the two chief offences against property (burglary and theft) together, there is a very great increase in the number of cases in the last three years, as compared with the previous quinquennial period :—

Year.	House-breaking.	Theft.	Total.
1886... ...	73	2,124	2,197
1887... ...	114	1,887	2,001
1888... ...	169	1,827	1,996
1889... ...	185	2,471	2,656
1890... ...	176	2,257	2,433
1891... ...	212	2,705	2,917
1892... ...	258	2,782	3,040
1893... ...	411	2,384	2,795
Total ...	1,598	18,437	20,035

19. That the increase is mainly due to less effectual Police supervision of bad characters cannot be questioned, but the Police were helpless in the matter. The strength of the Police remained stationary with many additional duties imposed on them, while the population and the inhabited area of the town went on increasing and expanding. Ten years ago 773,196 inhabitants lived within an area of, say, 10 square miles ; in the year under review, 804,604 people occupy at least 15 square miles.

20. In Class VI the increase falls under Serial Nos. 53 and 54 (Opium and Railway), which were taken up directly by Magistrates on complaints.

21. A most remarkable increase is observable under Miscellaneous Laws :—

	Increase.
Serial No. 62—Police Acts	3,664
„ „ 63—Drunkenness	912
„ „ 65—Prevention of Cruelty to Animals ...	182
„ „ 70—Indian Ports Act	402

22. As regards the first of these, 1,202 cases may be called distinctly Riot cases, and many others were also the outcome of the feeling of animosity between the two chief communities, which existed before the Riots and continues to some extent up to this day.

23. The greater activity of the Police, spoken of by Colonel Wilson in paragraph 10 of his report for 1892, has been maintained and contributed also, and no doubt, largely to the increase under this head.

24. With reference to the 2nd Class (Serial No. 63), the numerous strikes amongst the mill-hands and other operatives, which occurred during the year, and the closing of the opium dens, drove the people to the liquor shops, while the state of feeling amongst the low class Hindus after the Riots made them take to drink more than usual.

25. The increase under Cruelty to Animals is due to greater exertions on the part of the Society's Agents, and as regards the excess under Indian Ports Acts cases, it was undoubtedly brought about by greater activity of the Police in enforcing bye-laws, &c.

26. Under Act VI of 1863, there is a decrease of 527 cases as compared with 1892 (when the number of cases taken up was abnormally high), but still the cases taken up in 1893 were greatly in excess of all previous years, except 1892.

27. I may as well remark at this point that, as regards the crimes committed during the Riots, this return is not a complete one, for, I have only incorporated in it such of the offences as happened between the 11th and 16th of August, regarding which complaints were made at the time and which were investigated and prosecuted by the Police.

28. It would be an impossible task to enumerate and classify all the crimes committed during those terrible days; taking the offence of Rioting (Serial No. 6, Class I) alone, I would not be far out, if I say, that several hundreds were committed, and the same may be said regarding grievous hurt and other offences.

29. In my special report No. [illegible], dated 9th September 1893, I have given such statistics as it was possible for me to collect, and I attach copies of the same for reference.

30. Separating Indian Penal Code cases from the rest, the year under review shows 3,730 "reported" offences of that kind against 3,865 in 1892, and 3,782 in 1891; so that, even without deducting the 40 Riot cases, there has been a substantial diminution of serious crime when compared with 1892 and 1891.

31. In connection with cognizable offences 30,048 persons were dealt with by the Magistrates during the year, of these—

25,871 were arrested by the Police during the year,
4,091 appeared in consequence of Magisterial process,
86 belonged to the previous year.

Percentages.

32. I subjoin a table made up on the same principle as the one prepared by me in Karáchi (vide para. 10 of Government Resolution, Judicial Department, No. 1503 of the 26th February 1894):—

Real Penal Code Cases.	1892.	Average of three years.	1893.

*Released without trial to arrests ...	...	...	...

*In Bombay all persons arrested by the Police are sent before the Magistrate, hence no entries against these headings.

33. This table shows an improvement in all percentages, whether of cases or persons and whether compared with 1892 or with the average of the previous triennial period.

34. The results obtained in "minor offences" are as follows:—

Cases.

17,461 occurred (including cases pending from previous year),
17,013 ended in conviction,
184 „ in acquittal,
3 were pending,
261 „ otherwise disposed of as shown under Remarks in Statement A., Part I, which gives a percentage of 97·41 of convictions.

Persons.

22,338 were arrested (including persons pending from previous year),
21,658 „ convicted,
335 „ acquitted,
3 „ pending,
312 „ otherwise disposed of,

which gives a percentage of convictions of 96·69.

(b) Minor Magisterial Cases.

Cases.

3,934 occurred,
3,731 ended in conviction,
percentage of convictions 94·83.

Persons.

3,830 appeared before the Courts,
3,731 were convicted,
percentage of convictions 97·41.

Property—stolen and recovered.

35. During the year under review, property valued at Rs. 3,76,658 was stolen and Rs. 1,54,576 recovered, giving a percentage of 41·03. In 1892, the figures were respectively, Rs. 3,02,788—1,50,776—49·79.

36. The average for the previous five years was—

Stolen	Rs.	2,35,178
Recovered	„	1,17,344
Percentage	„	49.

37. Separating "House-breaking and theft" from "Theft" (ordinary) the following comparative statement may be of interest:—

Property.

		1888.	1889.	1890.	1891.	1892.	1893.
Stolen.	House-breaking and theft ...	33,916	29,212	37,942	53,240	96,169	1,49,184
	Theft (ordinary)	1,17,919	1,95,628	1,54,710	1,53,301	1,65,811	1,67,007
Recovered.	House-breaking and theft ..	10,541	12,845	15,231	25,487	41,511	16,631
	Theft (ordinary)	53,677	1,00,076	88,323	76,666	72,266	1,11,165

38. The remarks made in paragraph 13 explain in some measure the increase and decrease in the number of cases, and this table supports the theory advanced therein that faulty classification had much to do with the varying figures.

Special Remarks regarding Serious Offences.

Murder, Attempt at Murder and Culpable Homicide.

39. Of the 15 cases noted in the returns—

4 were due to domestic intrigue.
4 „ „ religious riots.
4 „ „ motive of gain.
3 „ „ sudden quarrel.

None of them presented any noteworthy features, except it be that in three cases children were murdered for the sake of ornaments of very small value. Deducting the four Riot cases, there was an increase of one as compared with 1892.

Attempts at Suicide.

40. Forty-three cases against 35 in 1892. As in Europe, the higher the state of civilization, the greater is the number of suicides. This is further proved by a comparison between Bombay City and the rest of the Presidency, for whereas in 1892 only 115 cases of this kind happened amongst a rural population of 18,000,000 persons, 35 occurred amongst 800,000 in the city of Bombay. Monetary difficulties and domestic quarrels were the chief causes.

41. Besides Attempts at Suicide, there were 92 suicides regarding which inquests were held by the Coroner, as per separate statement attached.

42. The subjoined statement gives further details of both :—

Offence.	European.		Eurasian.		Native Christian.		Mahomedan.		Parsi.		Hindu.		Grand Total.
	Male.	Female.	Male.	Female.	Male.	Female.	Male.	Female.	Male.	Female.	Male.	Female.	Male.	Female.
Attempts at Suicide	...	...	...	...	1	...	7	3	1	...	15	12	26	17
													43
Suicides ...	2	...	...	1	2	...	31	4	8	3	46	26	64	29
													93

43. The Coroner of Bombay held 494 inquests during the year, which were classified as under :—

Homicides...	9
Deaths caused by rash and negligent acts	1
Suicides	92
Accidental deaths	222
Deaths from natural causes	75
Deaths from unknown causes...	22
Deaths during the Riots	73
Total ...	494

45. During the year under review, the Police were successful in breaking up two gangs, who for some time past had given great trouble by administering dhatura to persons whom they intended to rob. Eight men were arrested and seven convicted.

45. The Police were further successful in apprehending and obtaining the conviction of one of the most daring swindlers, said to belong to the so-called Golden Gang. Another person of the same fraternity was also arrested lately, but he was discharged in consequence of the contradictory evidence of the persons whom he swindled out of the sum of Rs. 20,000, but who had fallen into the trap laid by him most willingly and in the hope of securing for themselves a large illegal gain.

Non-Cognizable Offences.

46. There were in all 7,959 cases, of which 3,724 fell under the Indian Penal Code and 4,235 under special and Local laws.

47. 6,573 persons appeared before the Courts in connection with them, and of these—

2,596 or 39·49 per cent. were convicted,
965 or 14·68 „ „ acquitted,
2,983 or 45·38 „ „ discharged,
26 were pending at the end of the year, and
3 were transferred to Courts outside of Bombay.

48. 67 cases (with 86 persons) of the above were initiated by the Police; the rest were taken up direct by the Magistracy.

49. The subjoined statement shows in detail the different castes to which the offenders in the cases shown in this return belonged :—

	Cases.														Grand Total.
	Europeans.		Portuguese.		Hindu.		Mahomedan.		Pársi.		Others.		Total.
	Male.	Female.	Male.	Female.	Male.	Female.	Male.	Female.	Male.	Female.	Male.	Female.	Male.	Female.
Cognizable ...	330	...	744	25	16,792	1,047	10,460	197	284	2	144	4	28,694	1,268	29,962
Non-Cognizable.	41	2	211	12	3,541	256	1,676	144	101	42	113	3	6,113	459	6,572
Total ...	371	2	955	37	20,333	1,303	12,276	341	615	44	257	7	34,807	1,727	36,535

50. With the exception of Europeans, who have decreased from 371 and 67 respectively to 330 and 43, there has been a proportionate increase in all classes as regards cognizable offences, though in non-cognizable ones, the number of Pársis concerned has decreased.

51. The following table shows at a glance the caste and nationality of persons concerned in 'serious cases against the person and property':—

Place where born.	Hindu.	Mahomedan.	Others.	Total.
Bombay Presidency	670	254	53	977
Native States	90	92	3	185
Foreign Country	89	221	18	328
Bombay Proper	159	79	12	250
Total ...	1,008	646	86	1,740

52. It is noteworthy that out of 1,740 serious offenders, 328 or 18 per cent. belonged to countries other than India and 10 per cent. to Native States. I am not aware that any other city in India and very few in the world exhibit so great an immigration of foreign criminals as Bombay.

Arms Act.

53. I subjoin the usual statement regarding import, transport, &c., of arms, ammunition and other articles, which requires no explanatory remarks :—

55. As regards the increase under No. 3, I may mention that a great many licences granted in previous years, which had not been renewed, were called in and the owners required to take out fresh licenses for all the years for which they had not obtained licenses.

56. A great many persons had also been granted licenses to possess arms in previous years, but had never purchased them. This led to confusion and I have now made it a rule not to issue any licenses, unless the arm is first produced in this office.

57. During and after the Riots there was a perfect rush of applications for arms licenses, many of which I thought it proper to refuse.

58. The following table shows to what sections of the community the license-holders belong :—

Nationality.	Number of Licenses.	Firearms.				Other Arms.

Pilgrims.

59. Passes and passports were granted to 13,476 persons, which shows a vast increase over the two previous years, in which respectively 8,143 and 9,096 were issued. Of those obtaining passes in 1893—

8,813 were British subjects,
1,441 subjects of Native States,
2,853 foreigners.

Besides the above 369 pilgrims provided with passports from Civil and Political Officers outside Bombay passed through the city.

Fires.

60. During the year under review 126 fires occurred, causing loss of property aggregating Rs. 4,81,635.

Street Accidents.

61. 624 persons were injured and 17 were killed by being run over by conveyances and tram cars; in the previous year the numbers were respectively 600 and 24.

62. During the last ten years, in consequence of the enormous increase in traffic, accidents of this kind have nearly doubled, and though I have endeavoured to regulate the traffic with the view of preventing accidents as much as possible, I cannot effectually do so with the limited number of men at my disposal.

63. Public conveyances of all kinds have, in spite of the enormous development of the Tramway and Railways, increased in ten years from 5,392 to 7,881, and private ones from 2,674 to 4,153, making a total increase of 3,698. To control the traffic, as it should be done, I require between 250 and 300 men for this duty alone, and it is clear that I cannot spare so large a number of men.

64. During 1893 strikes amongst mill-hands have again been numerous, and it was noticed that there was a good deal of method displayed. In one or two cases violence was threatened and the Police had hard work to keep the peace and order at the time.

65. Statement C requires no explanation beyond this that in consequence of the increase granted by Government Resolution, Judicial Department, No. 5389 of 28th August 1893, the proportion is now one Policeman to 417 of the population.

STATEMENT D.

(a) Rewards.

66. In the statements relating to rewards, it seems to have been the custom in previous years to include under the heading "By promotion" all ordinary advancements in grade. As this is contrary to the orders of Government, I have shown in the present statement only such rewards as were specially granted for conspicuous good service.

67. (b) Conduct of the Force.

1	Officer and	24	men were dismissed.
3	Do.	407	do. departmentally punished.
0	Do.	9	do. judicially punished by the Magistrates.

The average during the previous triennial period was—14 Dismissals,
388 Departmental punishments,
5 Judicial punishments.

68. I would add that departmental punishments include reduction in good marks obtained or the recording of minus marks against the names of offenders, a system which I introduced last year in lieu of money fines.

Education.

69. 191 officers and 413 men can read and write. In 1892 there were 141 officers and 373 men, which shows an improvement in the educational status of the Force.

Other details.

70. The number of new enlistments is about the same as formerly, if the increase is deducted.

71. 132 men left the Force during the year, out of whom 40 were pensioned and 27 died.

72. Calculated on the average strength during the year (say 1,700 men), this means a death-rate amongst selected lives of 16 per mille. I do not think that so high a rate of mortality is to be found in any native regiment or amongst any other body of men. As regards the general population of Bombay, it would mean a death-rate of at least 60 per thousand.

73. During the year 2,943 men were treated as in-door patients in the Police Hospital.

74. The daily number of sick has fluctuated from 48 to 92, with an average of about 70, which is again abnormally high and is caused by the constant exposure and the heavy work that has to be exacted from the men under the present constitution of the Force.

75. The general conduct of the Force has, I am glad to be able to report, been satisfactory.

76. I have much pleasure in mentioning the following officers as having done exceptionally good work. They fully deserve the high opinion formed of them by Colonel Wilson :—

Superintendent T. G. Sweeney.	Superintendent J. McDermott.
„ H. Brewin.	„ R. Ingram.

Superintendent W. R. Jones.

77. In the Detective Branch Sirdár Mir Abdul Alí, Khán Bahádur, has performed his duties with his usual tact and ability and he continues to set an example by his unwearied diligence in his work.

78. The Inspectors hereunder mentioned have worked with zeal and activity :—

Ráo Bahádur Daji Gangaji.	Mr. Lee-Smith.
Mr. W. J. Nolan.	„ O. J. Holdway.
Ráo Saheb Murarrad Kshirsagar.	„ C. Roberts.
Mr. A. L. Butterfield.	„ J. Stanford.

Mr. Roshan Alí Asad Alí.

79. During the Riots of August and for months after, the energy of the men was often taxed to the utmost limits of endurance, but led by their European officers, they were ever ready, and cheerfully faced fatigue and danger without a murmur.

80. Of the manner in which the European officers and those Native officers holding appointments in the European Branch and many of the subordinate Native officers acquitted themselves during those days of trouble, I cannot speak too highly. On duty the whole time, unable to obtain proper rest and food, harrassed and worn out by anxiety and fatigue, they, one and all, worked on at their posts bravely and staunchly. The Acting Deputy Commissioner of Police, Mr. Crummy, Superintendent Brewin and Sirdár Mir Abdul Alí, Khán Bahádur, were placed in positions of exceptional difficulty requiring great tact and firmness and each carried out the work allotted to him admirably and to my entire satisfaction.

81. Mr. Brewin was subsequently, at my request, appointed additional Deputy Commissioner of Police, by Government, as a temporary measure, in connection with the investigation of Riot cases, a duty of much difficulty but one for which he was especially qualified and which he, together with Sirdár Mir Abdul Alí, Khán Bahádur, carried out in a manner to win the commendation of the Government Solicitor, who wrote to me in terms of highest praise about the energy and ability displayed by these officers.

82. The harmony and good feeling, which has always existed between the Police and the Magistrates, continued throughout the year.

83. In conclusion, I beg to mention the able manner in which I was invariably assisted by the Acting Deputy Commissioner of Police, Mr. Crummy, and the tact and patience shown by him in the conduct of his onerous duties.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient Servant,

R. H. WINCENT,
Acting Commissioner of Police.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

Bombay Castle, 12th July, 1894.

Letter from the Commissioner of Police, Bombay, No. $\frac{2188}{7}$, dated the 12th May, 1894—

Submitting the Annual Police Report for the Town and Island of Bombay for the year 1893.

Further letter from the Commissioner of Police, Bombay, No. $\frac{2190}{7}$, dated the 12th May, 1894—

Stating that, in conformity with the instructions contained in Government Resolution No. 4075, dated the 14th July, 1886, he forwarded the report to the Chief Presidency Magistrate, and appending copy of a letter from that officer, No. 526, dated the 12th May, 1894.

RESOLUTION.—In dealing with Mr. Vincent's Annual Report on the Police Administration of the city of Bombay for 1893, two important considerations must be borne in mind. In the first place, when comparing the volume of crime in the city with the returns of previous years the effect upon the statistics of the prosecutions arising indirectly as well as directly from the riots of August last must be recognized, while in commenting upon the success of the Police in dealing with crime and criminals regard must be had to the fact that the City Police force was, during 1893, in a state of transition. The Governor in Council has, in Government Resolution No. 36, dated the 4th January, 1894, dealt at length with the origin, progress and suppression of the disturbances upon which the Commissioner of Police submitted his report on September 9th, 1893, and it is therefore unnecessary to do more than indicate the important bearing they have upon the returns attached to the Annual Police Report. It is also difficult, after so short an interval, to draw any conclusions as to the effects of the partial measure for strengthening the Police to which sanction was last year accorded by the Secretary of State and which was introduced by Government Resolution No. 5389, dated 28th August, 1893. The full effects of that measure may be expected to be felt during the current year; and the further increase, to which the sanction of the Government of India has recently been received, will, it is hoped, result in an immediate improvement in the health of the force, by enabling the Commissioner to reduce the hours of duty to a reasonable maximum.

2. It appears from the appendices to the report that the number of cognizable and non-cognizable cases and of persons concerned therein compare with the returns of the year 1892 as under :—

	Cases.				Persons.
	1892.	1893.	Increase in 1893.	Decrease in 1893.	1892.	1893.	Increase in 1893.	Decrease in 1893.
Cognizable ...	23,581	28,125	4,544	...	23,314	30,048	6,734	...
Non-cognizable ...	9,189	7,959	...	1,230	7,649	6,573	...	1,076
Total ...	32,770	33,084	4,544	1,230	30,963	36,621	6,734	1,076

In 1893 the number of Indian Penal Code offences was 3,730 involving 3,880 persons, against 3,865 offences in connection with which 3,235 persons appeared before the Courts in 1892. This decrease, which is entirely under the heading of ordinary thefts, is the more remarkable in that the increase (due to the riots) under classes I to III (in Statement A, Part I) is very large. Mr. Vincent, in paragraph 13, accounts for this partly by attributing the increase under the more serious offences, and the coincident decrease in the minor offences, to a more correct classification of crime, but alludes also in paragraph 17 to the absence from Bombay, for some time after the riots, of the class of petty thieves and vagabonds who contribute so largely to the number of minor offences against property.

3. Of the remaining cognizable cases, which numbered 21,395 as compared with 16,716 in 1892, the most remarkable increase occurred in those under the Police Acts, the number of which (including the offence of drunkenness) reached 12,562 against 7,992 in 1892. Of the former 1,202 offences were directly traceable to the riots, and no doubt a larger number was indirectly due to the same cause. The increase of over 900 in the number of cases of drunkenness is serious; but the Governor in Council is disposed for the present to attribute the spread of this vice to the first and third of the causes given in paragraph 24 of the report rather than to the second. Should the same feature be present in the current year when, it is to be hoped, the last cause will be non-existent, it may be necessary to enquire how far the second cause also contributes to the increase.

4. There were eleven cases of murder, four of which were committed during the riots, and four cases of culpable homicide. Of these fifteen cases, in which 39 persons appear to have been concerned, nine cases ended in the conviction of 31 persons.

5. Of the total number of Police cases investigated the percentage prosecuted to conviction rose from 89·63 in 1892 to 92·97 in the year under review, while no fewer than 97·69 per cent. of cases actually brought before and decided by the Courts resulted in convictions. Property to the value of Rs. 3,76,658 was stolen, and 41·03 per cent. or Rs. 1,54,576 were recovered. The Police were more successful in 1892 in the recovery of stolen property. The Commissioner of Police gives in paragraph 37 an interesting table, from which it would appear that, unless the classification of offences has in previous years been faulty, the value of property stolen in ordinary theft cases hardly increased at all, whereas the goods stolen in cases of "house-breaking and theft" were valued at nearly Rs. 1½ lakhs in 1893 against less than one lakh in 1892. The fact merely coincides with the fluctuation, already noticed in paragraph 3 of this Resolution, in the class of offences committed, but the comparative failure of the Police in recovering property stolen in 1893 may, it seems to the Governor in Council, be due to the change in the nature of the circumstances under which the property became the subject of the offence of theft. If this explanation be the true one it is possible that the Commissioner of Police in paragraph 17 of his report lays too much stress on the faulty classification of offences which obtained in previous years, and the Governor in Council will await the results of another year's Police administration for a fuller explanation of the apparent change. It seems possible that the decrease in the petty thefts, reported last year to be so frequent at Máhim and in other suburbs, may be due to the possibility, since the Commissioner of Police has begun to entertain his enlarged force, of making more adequate provision for the protection of the inhabitants of the outlying parts of the town.

6. The Coroner held inquests in 494 cases, in 73 of which death was due to injuries received during the riots. The number of cases in which death was attributed to suicide was 92.

7. It is difficult to compare the conduct of the force, strengthened as it was during a part of the year, with the conduct as displayed by the list of rewards and punishments awarded in previous years. Mr. Vincent has, moreover, correctly stopped the practice of showing as rewards what were merely routine promotions. The conduct of the men under their officers, as displayed when the emergency of August last arose, was excellent, and with the better class of recruits which will be obtainable at the revised rates of pay, a generally high standard of efficiency may confidently be looked for. The health of the men, it appears from paragraphs 72 and 73 of the report, was anything but satisfactory, but in this respect, more than any other, an improvement may be expected directly the enlistment of the additional men sanctioned admits of a reduction in the hours of duty.

8. The Governor in Council has read with pleasure the high opinion formed by the Commissioner of Police of the merits of the Superintendents ed with financial assistance fr

Government of Maharashtra
on 22 July, 2017

Sweeney, Brewin, MacDermot, Ingram and Jones and of the Inspectors named in paragraph 78 of the report. Mr. Brewin appears to have carried out the special duty to which he was appointed ably and well and Sardar Mir Abdul Ali Khán Bahádur has maintained the high reputation which his energy and tact have gained for him. Mr. Crummy, who acted as Deputy Commissioner throughout the year under report, ably seconded Mr. Vincent's untiring efforts towards the maintenance of the efficiency of the force and the suppression of disorder in a year which presented circumstances of unusual difficulty.

9. Copies of the report and of this Resolution should be forwarded to the Government of India and the Secretary of State.
